GLAM GANG * 70s Party Music

«You Ain't Seen Nothing Yet»

... was spread out over the whole world in the seventies. The hit of B.T.O. could also stand as the godfather for the 70's Party Music of the GLAM GANG.

In the 70s, the history of music was enriched by a shrill movement. With lipstick, glitter-make Up and plateau boots, Glam Rock came to change the world.

Almost at the same time, hard rock in the style of Deep Purple and Pink Floyd's psychedelic music inspired rock. The associations to colourful impressions, wide wallpaper patterns and oval furniture forms, Bonanza and Kojak are still in everybodys head.

Exactly of this unique music epoch come the musicians of GLAM GANG.

Beside the songs of the Glam Rock era (Sweet, T. Rex, David Bowie, Suzi Quatro, Slade and more) there are also songs of the classic rock bands like Deep Purple, Uriah Heep and Led Zeppelin on the setlist.

In the authentic glitter and glamor outfit, even with original equipment of this time, they wake up recollections and longings. Nostalgic moments for the adults - a musical historical hour for all those younger.

An evening with GLAM GANG promises a lot of fun and dance pleasure. So here comes another world hit - this time from the feather of Marc Bolan (T. Rex): "Get It On"
